Yaounde, the

RELEASE

The National Anti-Corruption Commission (CONAC) will organise a caravan to sensitise youths nation-wide on the fight against corruption. This caravan, scheduled for Thursday, February 8, 2018 in Ebolowa, falls within the framework of activities marking the 52nd National Youth Day celebration.

In line with its activities of prevention, CONAC intends, through this caravan, to mobilise and sensitize youths on the damages caused by corruption and the importance of adopting integrity as a way of life. The caravan will also enable the institution to seek popular support for the fight against corruption so that Cameroon can constitute a critical mass of positive actors to say "NO" to the scourge.

The caravan, which will be led by the Governor of the South Region and the Chairman of CONAC, shall kick-off from Lycée Classique et Moderne, Ebolowa, in the presence of administrative, judicial, traditional and religious personalities of that city.

This essentially student-constituted caravan will pass through the main streets of Ebolowa, and stop at strategic points like schools, road junctions, markets and motor parks, to distribute information gadgets and sensitise the public on the need to fight against corruption.

The Chairman of CONAC seizes this opportunity to request Cameroonians from every nook and cranny to be more committed to the fight against corruption so as to guarantee the development of the Country, which is the major objective of the policy of emergence recommended by the Head of State, His Excellency Paul BIYA.
